SUMMARY

I am a dedicated BBA student with hands-on experience in warehouse operations and inventory management. Currently, I am expanding my skill set in DevOps and various technical projects, integrating business acumen with practical technical expertise. Passionate about leveraging cloud technologies, automation, and efficiency, I aim to drive business growth and operational excellence.

With a strong focus on DevOps, cloud computing, and process optimization, my goal is to build a career that combines business knowledge with technical proficiency, contributing to the success of dynamic, forward-thinking companies.
